Depending on the number of applications received, the selection process may include:

In this respect, the WDC provide for the employment of a short-listing process to select a group of candidates for interview who, based on an examination of their application, appear to be the most suitable for the position. An experienced interview board will examine the application against a pre-determined criteria based on the requirements of the position.

This is not to suggest that other candidates are necessarily unsuitable or incapable of undertaking the job, rather that there are some candidates, who based on their application, appear to be better qualified and/or have more relevant experience. It is therefore in your own interest to provide a detailed and accurate account of your qualifications/ experience in your application.

Interviews:

The onus is on each applicant to ensure that they are in receipt of all communications from the WDC. As much notice as possible will be given to candidates being called for interview, but usually five working days. Candidates should make themselves available on the date(s) specified by the WDC and should make sure that their contact details specified on their application are correct.

Interviews may be held in person, online via Microsoft Teams, or through another video conferencing platform, at the discretion of the WDC.

The WDC will not be responsible for refunding any expenses incurred by candidates for attendance at interview.

References:

As part of the selection process, candidates may be asked to provide names and contact details of people who would be suitable referees. The WDC will only collect the details and contact referees should you come under consideration for the post.

Until all stages of the recruitment process have been fully completed, a final determination on suitability of a candidate for appointment to this position cannot be made nor can it be deemed or inferred that such a determination has been made.

Panel:

Should the candidate recommended for appointment decline, or having accepted it relinquish it, the WDC may at its discretion, select and recommend another candidate for appointment on the results of this selection process.

The WDC may also establish a panel of successful candidates following the results of the selection process. Should a panel be established, candidates will be placed on the panel in order of merit. Any panel created will expire after a designated period from its establishment or when it has been exhausted, whichever is sooner. Placement on a panel is not a guarantee of appointment to a post, and candidates not appointed at the expiry of the panel will have no claim to a post thereafter.

Candidates' Obligations:

Candidates should note that canvassing will disqualify and will result in their exclusion from the process.

Candidates must not:

- knowingly or recklessly provide false information
- canvass any person with or without inducements
- interfere with or compromise the process in any way

A third party must not impersonate a candidate at any stage of the process. Any person who contravenes the above provisions or who assists another person in contravening the above provisions is guilty of an offence. Where a person is found guilty of an offence was or is a candidate at a recruitment process, then:
